

Inspired by Wimbledon? There's still time to book a tennis holiday this summer with Mark Warner

With Wimbledon set to return from 29 June to 12 July 2026, tennis fever is once again sweeping the nation. For those inspired to perfect their topspin, sharpen their serve, or master the latest racquet sports, independent activity holiday specialist Mark Warner (0845 322 5037, www.markwarner.co.uk) has unveiled a major refresh of its tennis, padel, and pickleball programme across all of its resorts in Greece and Turkey this summer.

Combining upgraded expert coaching and more opportunities to play than ever before, the enhanced offering is designed to help guests of all ages and abilities take their game to the next level while enjoying a sunshine escape.

New inclusive Tennis Clinics introduce accessible one-hour coaching for beginners and casual players and are complemented by an enhanced Classic Tennis course, now featuring a 30-minute private lesson. These sit alongside new group and private sessions, weekly tournaments and popular options such as cardio drills and social tennis, all of which are designed to offer something for every level and are included within the cost of the holiday.

Padel continues to expand with new introductory sessions, pre-bookable courses and a lively social schedule, particularly at Paleros Beach Resort and Aeolian Village Beach Resort, while Pickleball's growing popularity is reflected in dedicated court time, weekly tournaments and social sessions running six times per week across all Mark Warner resorts.

Intensive tennis weeks at Paleros Beach Resort on the Ionian coast

Created specifically for regular players who are looking to work on their playing style, Mark Warner's intensive tennis weeks (£395 per person) offers 20 hours of on court tennis instruction and game playing. Led by tennis pro Andrew Parsons, there is still availability at Paleros departing and 27th September. They also include clinics in groundstrokes, net play, service, tactics, and match play, a 45-minute private session, evening social match play, and an end of week tournament with awards and an exhibition match. Participants must be at least 13 years old.

Nestling in a sheltered bay alongside the Ionian Sea on the west coast of mainland Greece, Paleros Beach Resort offers an ideal setting for a tennis holiday with a difference. In addition to tennis, Paleros also offers two padel courts, Pickleball, as well as a diverse range of sports activities from sailing and paddleboarding to cycling, along with Mark Warner's trademark exceptional childcare.

Tennis from tots to teens: Lemnos Beach Resort, Lemnos

Recognising the growing popularity of racquet sports among younger players, Lemnos Beach Resort offers dedicated Kids Club tennis sessions for children aged three and over. Delivered with the same high standards as the adult programme, each lesson is tailored to age and ability, creating a fun, supportive and confidence-building environment where children can develop their skills, make new friends and discover a love of the game.

Tucked away in a secluded bay on the south-west coast of Lemnos, in a prime beachfront setting, Lemnos Beach Resort is the quintessential Greek island escape. Home to three all-weather tennis courts, the resort has refined its tennis programme to offer an inclusive coaching experience for every age and ability, from first-time players to seasoned enthusiasts. The longest-standing resort in the Mark Warner portfolio, it continues to attract loyal guests year after year thanks to its warm, village-like atmosphere, outstanding children's facilities and wide range of sports and activities both on and off the court.

Try your hand at Padel: Aeolian Village Beach Resort, Lesvos

From Wimbledon legend Andy Murray to football icon David Beckham, a growing number of sporting stars have embraced padel, the fast-paced racquet sport that is rapidly becoming one of Britain's biggest participation games. Get ahead of the competition with the chance for expert coaching, combined with a holiday at Mark Warner's Aeolian Village Beach Resort, tucked into a quiet corner of Eressos beach, a gorgeous sandy bay on the southwest coast of Lesvos.

With three Astro tennis courts in addition to padel, the resort offers outstanding sporting facilities, backed by experienced instructors, as well as plenty of sun loungers to enjoy expertly crafted sundowners as the perfect balance of activity and laid-back hospitality. Set in mature gardens, against a backdrop of mountains, it is a short walk from the laid-back seaside village of Skala Eresou.

Never in a pickle with Pickleball at Phokaia Beach Resort, Turkey

Equally popular with famous faces, this US-born sport is gaining more and more status on this side of the Atlantic. Pickleball is available on pop-up courts at Aeolian Village, Lemnos, and Paleros Beach Resorts, but Phokaia Beach Resort in charming Foca, near Izmir, has 3 purpose-built pickleball courts waiting for you to try your hand at this fun family friendly sport.

Combine these courts with the 3 plexi-pave tennis courts, a full-service fitness and wellbeing programme including box fit and guided meditation, dinghy sailing and windsurfing, mountain and road biking, kayaking and stand-up paddleboarding, and just as many ways to relax and recharge, and you've got a fantastic holiday on the Western coast of Turkey.

Notes to Editors: With a heritage dating back to 1974, independent activity holiday specialist Mark Warner has been creating outstanding holidays for over 50 years. Their idyllic beach resorts are located across the Mediterranean – Aeolian Village Beach Resort in Lesbos; Lemnos Beach in Lemnos; Paleros Beach Resort on the Ionian coast of mainland Greece and Phokaia Beach Resort in Foca, on the west coast of Turkey.

Renowned for their great locations, relaxed surroundings, superb facilities (tennis, watersports and cycling) and welcoming, sociable atmosphere, a stay at a Mark Warner Resort is as much about relaxing by the pool as stretching your comfort zone on the waves or perfecting your top spin on the court. With teams of friendly, supportive coaches and instructors on hand, active-minded guests have a diverse choice of sports to choose from, but there are also gorgeous pools, spas, plenty of sun loungers and delicious restaurants to enjoy. Couples and friends travelling together love the sociable atmosphere, whilst for those travelling with families, the resorts offer excellent childcare and activities, from pre-school right through to teenagers.
